

CAPGEMINI CASE STUDY

RESPONSIVE EVOLVING INTEGRITY ENERGY

UNITED VALUE CREATION

OVERVIEW

Capgemini, a leading tech and IT consultancy has partnered with BrightBox to deliver a range of services, from Scala development to product ownership, infrastructure leadership, and content creation. The successful collaboration has positively impacted both Capgemini and its clients, showcasing the importance of high-quality, technically superb, and transparent services in this partnership.

ABOUT CAPGEMINI

Capgemini is a renowned tech and IT consultancy house, committed to technical innovation, ethics, and sustainability in the digital world. With 290,000 staff members in nearly 50 countries, the firm's primary business focuses on cloud, data, AI, connectivity, software, digital engineering, and platforms, generating global revenue of $16 billion in 2020. Capgemini offers four main services: Consulting Services (Capgemini Invent), Technology Services, Outsourcing Services (including BPO), and Local Professional Services (Sogeti).

CHALLENGE: DELIVERING HIGH-QUALITY SERVICES

Capgemini needed a reliable partner to provide a range of services that would not only support its tech consultancy team but also positively impact its clients. The partnership required a commitment to delivering high-quality, technically proficient, and transparent services that could stand up to the scrutiny of the consultancy's stringent standards.

SOLUTION: PARTNERING WITH BRIGHTBOX

BrightBox's technical expertise and experience in the consulting space made them the ideal partner for Capgemini. Over the past year, the partnership has flourished as BrightBox provided a variety of services, from Scala Development to product ownership, infrastructure leadership, and content creation. The collaboration has been successful and is poised to expand in the future.

RESULTS AND TESTIMONIALS

BrightBox's dedication to delivering exceptional services has solidified their partnership with Capgemini. The positive impact on both Capgemini and its clients demonstrates the value of the collaboration. With established global terms signed, the partnership between BrightBox and Capgemini is set to grow even stronger in the coming years.

"Offering up services to not only your own clients but also to your clients customers requires an extremely high level of performance. The past year has highlighted our ability to be an adaptable, communicative and knowledgeable partner to Cap which has resulted in benefits for all parties involved. We look forward to supporting many more projects and programmes with them and their delivery teams."

Stuart Houghton, CEO, BrightBox Group